

Emeritus Office Space: College of Applied Health Sciences

Emeritus faculty may continue using a primary office for one year following their retirement and for a longer period of time if they are the PI on at least one research project which generates full-rate ICR that is returned to the College based on the campus distribution formula. Following that year, Emeriti may use a shared departmental office space with other Emeritus faculty subject to availability. Emeriti will have access to office support staff or supplies for teaching or when they are conducting other relevant departmental or college functions. Some factors that are considered in the assignment of space for Emeritus faculty include: preferences for location by Emeritus faculty, college/departmental space availability, IT needs, IT resources available, and teaching assignments in the College.
